

From obs on 2/25/22: "18 inches of new snow from last week slid on top of crust layer. The slide on the left was triggered by an uphill snowmobile hill climber, the slide on the right occurred when snowmobile turned out of a hill climb and his track broke through the crust layer causing everything within his up and downhill track to slide."

Advisory Region
Southern Madison
Longitude

-111.19W

Latitude

44.91N

Avalanche Details: 2 snowmobile triggered slides in Tepee

Forecast link: GNFAC Avalanche Forecast for Sat Feb 26, 2022

Southern Madison, 2022-02-26